Abstract

Steven Heller is one of the foremost authorities on design and illustration history. He is the author, co-author, and editor of over 200 books on graphic design, illustration, and political art. He is a partner in and editor-at-large for Printmag.com, where he writes The Daily Heller. He was an art director at The New York Times for 33 years and was a columnist for The New York Times Book Review. Heller is also the co-founder and co-chair of the MFA Design Department and co-founder of the MFA Design Criticism Department at SVA. He has been a contributing editor to Print, Eye, Baseline, and I.D. magazines and has published hundreds of articles and critical essays in those and other design and culture journals. He has curated numerous exhibitions and has lectured widely on design and illustration history. In 2011, he received the Smithsonian/Cooper Hewitt's Design Mind Award.

Scope And Contents
